

News Release

The National Association of Jewelry Appraisers (NAJA) takes a bold step and sets the pace for others to follow.

NAJA is proud to announce the first of its kind, voluntary background check program to members of a jewelry association. NAJA has partnered with Global Investigative Services Inc., an expert in the background screening industry to help administer our program. “We are thrilled to offer this service to our members and share with our industry and consumers our commitment to transparency and excellence” Gail Brett Levine, GIA GG, Executive Director. “We owe it to consumers and value their loyalty and trust in us”. Robbie Bradbury, GIA GG.
