

Introducing the Official 2018 AGTA GemFair™ Tucson Gembassadors™

AGTA is thrilled to announce this year's GemFair social media influencers or as we like to call them, AGTA Gembassadors™! They will be bringing an exclusive insider's look of all the incredible gemstones, cultured Pearls and designs, trend forecasting interviews with AGTA's GemFair™ Tucson buyers, special events, seminars and activities for you to get involved in, as well as interviewing the best in the industry at the AGTA Spectrum Awards™ Gala! This epic takeover starts on Tuesday, January 30th and continues throughout the duration of the show.

Benjamin Guttery
@thirdcoastgems

Benjamin Guttery is known as “@ThirdCoastGems” across multiple social media platforms. He spotlights emerging and established designers alike, and the boutiques that partner with them, through his contagious passion for jewelry and gemstones. With his knowledge from being a Gemological Institute of America Graduate Gemologist and Accredited Jewelry Professional, he also helps consumers understand more about the trade. He has served on INSTORE Magazine's Style Council and as a Judge for their "America's Coolest Stores" issue. Follow him on Instagram at @ThirdCoastGems to see his travels nationwide and beyond, as he seeks out the best in fine designer jewelry. His new website will launch later this year.

Hannah Becker
@diamonddoodles

Hannah Becker a.k.a. Diamonddoodles, is an artist, gemologist and a nomad. Diamonddoodles is the expression of years of fine arts training, glitter theory and an obsession with all that sparkles. She has found a following online that not only appreciates her art, but also her unique ability to educate about gemstones and document her travels.

Becky Stone
@diamondsinthelibrary

Becky Stone is a freelance writer, social media expert, and the founder of the popular blog, Diamonds in the Library. A career writer and editor who revamped her life to become a professional jewelry lover, Becky is on a never-ending quest to discover the worlds' most noteworthy jewelry designs – old and new, fine and otherwise – and share them with the people who will love to love them.
